How Animals Damage Roofs

Roof damage from animals often goes unnoticed until a leak appears or insulation is ruined. Common culprits include:

Possums and rats chewing through insulation and timber supports

Birds nesting under tiles, in gutters, and within roof cavities

Bats leaving behind guano that causes rot and corrosion

Cats and other wildlife loosening flashing or tiles while climbing

Wasps or bees building hives in vents or eaves

Over time, these intrusions lead to:

Broken or displaced roof tiles

Damaged underlayment and insulation

Clogged gutters and drainage issues

Leaks and water damage

Pest infestations within roof cavities

Signs Your Roof Has Been Damaged by Animals

Not sure if animals are affecting your roof? Here are common warning signs to look out for:

Scratching or scurrying noises in the ceiling

Droppings, nesting material, or chewed insulation in the roof space

Dislodged tiles or bent gutter guards

Foul odours from animal waste

Increased insect activity (especially ants, mites, or flies)

Water leaks around areas where animals may have entered

If any of these sound familiar, a professional roof inspection is highly recommended.

Expert Insight:

“Possums can enter through gaps as small as 8 cm. Once inside, they'll repeatedly return — causing damage each time. Prevention is the most effective defence.”

– Nathan Ellis, Senior Roofer at Roofs.com.au

1. Animal-Proofing Your Roof

We implement permanent solutions to keep animals out:

Custom gutter guards

Possum-proof mesh

Chimney caps and vent screens

Reinforced flashing

For homes in wildlife-prone areas like Brisbane, Melbourne, or regional NSW, prevention is crucial.

Preventing Future Animal Intrusions

Here are a few proactive tips to safeguard your roof:

Trim tree branches that overhang your roof

Regularly clean gutters to remove nesting material

Install animal-proof vents and chimney covers

Schedule annual roof inspections, especially after storms

Check your roof for signs of droppings or scratching sounds

Professional Tip:

“The most effective solution is sealing entry points before nesting begins. Prevention can save you thousands in long-term repairs.”

– Claire Hughes, Roofing & Wildlife Control Specialist
